

ACCIDENTAL FIND AT TREMNIK - NEGOTINO

At the village Tremnik, near Negotino, were discovered valuable artifacts, noting another important archaeological site on the territory of the Republic of Macedonia.

The golden coins with the images of Phillip II and Alexander III the Macedonian are just a part of the valuable archaeological find in the Negotino area. Among the discovered objects is also a golden application with the image of Poseidon, small buttons of Malavian type with stellar juts, about one hundred armbands, as well as petal necklace pendants.

The total weight of the discovered objects is about 700 grams of gold, but more important is their specific and exceptional historical significance.

These discoveries confirm once again the historical continuity on our soil, because globally it is more than valuable to discover and to possess artifacts dating from the 4th century BC.

The discovered objects are under conservation, after which they will be kept in the Museum of Negotino, which is being built and adjusted with financial assistance from the Ministry of Culture, but also from foreign donations.

In this case, the Cultural Heritage Protection Office would like to emphasize the impeccable cooperation with the citizens which, without any hesitation, had submitted the discovered artifacts to the Museum of the City of Negotino, and even more, they had not requested any financial remuneration for the accidental find.
